

adults and displaced workers who require new occupational skills. He conducts orientations, screenings, assessments and counseling sessions. Forbes also leads the On-the-Job Training (OJT) team, which promotes and administers the OJT program in the community. Forbes served 24 years in the U.S. Army and Army Reserve. He earned degrees from Roanoke-Chowan Community College and Elizabeth City State University.

###